2011 Middle East Summer Institute
Friday, June 17 – Saturday, June 18, 2011
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Political and Social Change in the Middle East and North Africa

Objectives
Understand social and political dynamics of the revolutions and revolts of 2011, and explore methods for teaching about current uprisings in the region. Presentations will be given by University faculty and curriculum professionals. While all are welcome to attend, material will be geared towards high school and community college educators.

Credit
Participating teachers will receive CPDUs for IL teachers or CEUs for non-IL teachers.

Cost
The institute fee is $50. This includes meals, curriculum from the Choices Program, and other materials, including a CD-Rom of presentations and handouts.

Housing
Single rooms will be provided for out-of-town participants.

Travel Grants
A limited number of travel assistance grants are available.

Deadline
Deadline for applications is May 20, 2011. Register early!
